BELATED BORROWERS HAVE TROUBLE OBTAINING MONEY.

BATES ARE HIGHER ON NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

News of British Disaster in South Africa Has Strong Sentimental

New York, March 10.—Efforts were made to contest the influence of the Saturday bank statement during the early hours of to-day's stock market, but late in the day belated borrowers ran up the money rate by their bidding against each other, and predictions were heard from the best authorities that money would rule higher in the immediate future. The disaster to the British arms in South Africa had a strong sentimental effect, although the direct influence was restrained by the fact that the London stock market was closed when the news was received. Traders here sold stocks on the supposition that the news will induce some liquidation for London account and may also affect the money market by accenting the pressure for gold in London. Reports by accepted authorities that the condition of the winter wheat was not promising to face the coming critical period for the crop were also a bear influence.

In cash reserves.

Small Speculator Vot Convinced.
Those arguments evidently had some academic force, but they were not sufficient to discunde the smoll speculator from selling out stocks when he saw the index finger of the money rate pointing to bilater force to the today in the last required a session of the London Stock Exchange to measure the effect of the measure the effect o

The whole market gave way and closed active and weak, with a large number of ng stocks from 1 to 2½ points lower Saturday's closing prices. There were many assurances put forth this morning, apparently in concert, that nothing was to be feared from the money market, in spite of the low stage of the reserves. The pracipal burden of these arguments was to the House banks are to railroad and industrial syndicates, made up of the country's most powerful capitalists. It is urged that these borrowers are the best security in the world, so that little is to be feared from loaning the banks' resources up to the legal limit on such securities.

The Journal of Commerce estimates that from $140,000,000 to $220,000,000 of the new leans by New York banks and trust companies since January 7, 1901, have been made to such syndicates. The point is also made that sufficient account has not been taken of the great expansion in capital and surplus of the banks in that period and exaggerated account taken of the small increase in cash reserves.

Small Speculator Not Convinced.
